

Big Green with all the options

The Merlo Roto 40.25 scale model is big and follows the recent trend for a larger scale than the old 50:1. While the scale is not mentioned on the box, it appears to be 1:32, a scale increasingly adopted for telehandler models.

The larger scale does allow for additional detailing and the Merlo has that in abundance, with an opening engine compartment, a tilting cab and even working spring suspension! Possibly a first on a telehandler model?

The fully extended five section boom is long and heavy, so a small pin is provided to lock the lift cylinders should you wish to display it in the extended position.

The model also comes fully equipped, not only with the optional crane jib and work platform, but also with its own wooden pallet to go on the forks. All in all this is an excellent model. It can be ordered from the parts department of Merlo dealers for £35, you will also find it in a few specialist model shops.
